

CIRCLE OF FRIENDS

Friends of the Castro Valley Library
August 2015

MARK YOUR CALENDAR—OUR ANNUAL MEETING IS SCHEDULED FOR NOVEMBER 10th.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

If you were not able to come to the pop-up multimedia sale on June 21, never fear, the August book sale will have lots of great media for sale at very reasonable prices along with lots of books! Mark the dates on your calendar: August 21 – 23. If you have never volunteered for the Friends, this is a great place to start. Sign up to help at the bookstore office. While you are there, pick up a volunteer form to explore other volunteer opportunities.

The Friends support many of the ongoing programs at the library. Everything from A to Z:

- Animal visits (Paws to Read, Sulphur Creek...)
- Computer classes
- Game Day
- Monthly Movie
- Summer Reading Game
- Tuff Tumblers
- Xylophone (sounds like Z) experience (Musical Story time).

This is just a sampling of how we support the Castro Valley Library.

The dedication of our volunteers and the generosity of the community make all of this possible.

If you are interested in being more involved in the activities of the Friends, please join us at a board meeting – the fourth Tuesday of each month in the café area of the library, 9:30 am. Next meeting: August 25, 2015.

Jane Kraut, President

MESSAGE FROM THE LIBRARY MANAGER

By Carolyn Moskowitz

Although we are all concerned about the drought, all of the sunshine has been a real boon to our solar panel efficiency. We are about to hit 2 million kilowatts of generated power since we installed them. Our library continues to run entirely on the sun. I guess that's the silver lining.

The San Lorenzo Library has been closed all summer, and many of the folks that typically use the San Lorenzo Library have been using the Castro Valley Library instead. The grand opening of the new expanded San Lorenzo Library is scheduled to take place on August 29th. All are welcome to take part in the opening day celebrations.

And they have a lot to celebrate. Not only will they have a beautiful new library, but they have a wonderful new manager, our own Danielle Wilson. Danielle was promoted to lead the new library in June. We are very excited and happy for her, but we already miss her intelligence, style, sense of humor and willingness to take on any challenge with creativity and enthusiasm. Mitzi Donohue has taken on her job duties for now, and starting in mid-August, Patty Mangel will be joining us as our new Circulation Services Manager. Special thanks to Mitzi, who is doing a great job, and welcome to Patty!

Librarian Lyn Leone inherited a beautiful teacup collection. She no longer had a place to display the 50 cups and saucers and came up with a great idea of how to share them. We displayed them in the Library's display case and invited everybody to submit an entry form to win the teacup of his or her choice. We received 4,176 entry forms!! I can never remember anything quite so popular. Thanks to Lyn for the great idea and her generosity.

In the last few months, we have had 3 outstanding Adult programs that I wanted to mention. We had our first ever local author fair. In order to participate, an author needed to live in the Castro Valley Library service area and have a published book. 37 local authors took part. Thanks to the Friends for generously funding refreshments and raffle prizes for this event. We also offered a FIXIT clinic, co-sponsored by the Castro Valley Sanitary District. Community members brought in everything from broken bikes to broken toasters and most left with working objects. And finally, over 70 women joined us for a program entitled "Fabulous Fashion for Women over 50".

I wanted to also mention that the Library now has Blu-Rays to check out for both adults and kids. And we have expanded access to on-line magazines. Stop by the reference desk and we will be happy to give a handout on how to gain access to them, as well as all of our on-line resources.

SUMMER PROGRAMS

By Dawn Balestreri, Children's Librarian.

It's that time of the year, when the teachers get a break and the librarians get busy! Summer is a fantastic time to visit the Castro Valley Library whether you're still a kid or just a kid at heart. Our seven weeks of summer include at least one program every weekday and some weekends.

On Monday we offer Lego Day. Our first Lego Day brought in 215 people! We empty out our bins of Legos and let the kids play for 2 hours. Next time you come into the library, look to your left while walking through the gates at our small display case and the amazing creations the kids have made.

We played Big Hero 6 for our first Movie Tuesday this summer and nearly 200 people attended.

Rockin' Wednesdays offers a variety of acts, including puppetry, live animals and music. We have a lot of music options this summer, including the electric jazz trio, Charged Particles, and the hands-on Drummmmm!

Game Day Thursdays is two hours of gaming, including X-Box, board games, and this year we have a 3-D printer available to check out.

In addition, we have our regularly scheduled Pajama Time, Musical Storytime, Yoga for Kids and the Tuff Tumblers gymnastic program.

We're not resting on Saturdays though, when you'll see multiple programs, including Spectrum of Science and Sulphur Creek in the outdoor amphitheater (or inside depending on weather). The Castro Valley School of music will also be here to offer a Ukulele Workshop to our customers, and we'll have a violin concert for families at the end of the summer.

Did I mention this is all FREE! Thousands of people will come through our doors this summer just to enjoy a wide array of programming options. We thank the Friends of the Castro Valley Library for their generous funding of these programs.

We also have the Summer Reading Game from June 8th – August 8th. Our theme this year is "Read to the Rhythm." We have game boards for Prereaders, Kids, Teens and Adults this year. Books, gift cards, passes to local museums, and a Beats headphone raffle for teens are some of the great prizes for reading! We expect to give away more than 2000 prizes this year.

Our Summer Reading Game wouldn't be possible without the 80+ middle school volunteers who help us facilitate the game. They sign the children up, help keep track when the kids are playing/spinning and assist with stuffing the more than 1000 prize bags. The volunteers will put in more than 800 hours combined this summer and enjoy an

IT'S TIME TO RENEW!

Memberships in the Friends of the Castro Valley Library organization renew on October 1st of each year. The August issue of the newsletter is snail-mailed to all current members in order to include a mailing envelope, in which you can send us a renewal check. You can also renew your membership in person at the Friends BookStore inside the Castro Valley Library. Membership cards may be picked up at the BookStore or at the August or December book sale (see page 7 for book sale dates). Please allow about 10 working days for us to receive and process your payment. You also have the option of including a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your renewal, and we will mail your card to you.

At $10 per year, an individual membership in the Friends of the Castro Valley Library includes several benefits: $7 in discounts at the BookStore, a $2 discount for each of the 3 annual book sales, and admission to the Friday preview night for each of the 3 annual book sales. This is a total of $13 in discounts, as well as first chance at the wonderful books available at each of our sales. For $20 per year, a family membership includes two cards, which doubles the discount value to $26! All members receive our quarterly newsletter.

Please consider upgrading your membership to the $50 Benefactor level. Membership dues are an important part of the Friends' income, which in turn directly benefits our beautiful library! Other membership options include Corporate Benefactor at $35, and Lifetime ($200) or Family Lifetime ($300). When submitting your renewal by mail or in person, please include a completed application form (available below or on the mailing envelope) so that we can verify that we have your complete current postal and email addresses. This is also a good time to let us know if you are interested in volunteering with the Friends, in the BookStore, at our 3 annual book sales, or in some other capacity. You must be a current member to volunteer.

Planning to attend the book sale on August 21st through 23rd?? Your current (2014-2015) membership card and its remaining $2.00 discount is still good for this sale, but you will need your new (2015-2016) card for the December sale. If you're not a member yet, you can join at the door. You will receive a brand-new 2015-2016 membership card AND a $2.00 coupon to use at the August sale. The new membership cards will also be available at the BookStore starting August 17th for anyone wishing to join or renew. Remember that your membership dues help to fund programs and amenities for our library, the same as proceeds from your generous donations.

I want to join the Friends of the Castro Valley Library as a new renewing member (IMPORTANT—so that we have accurate information, PLEASE PRINT CLEARLY!)

The Road to Character by David Brooks (2015 non-fiction) David Brooks is a well-known political and social columnist for the New York Times and a frequent commentator on PBS News Hour and Meet the Press. In recent years he has written books on a variety of subjects exploring the daily lives of people. His most recent book, The Road to Character, is an intriguing exploration of how men and women have a double nature, one side which illustrates the “resume virtues”, those that contribute to external success, pursuit of self-interests, and are reflective of many in our society today. The other side illustrates the “eulogy virtues” which reflect inner moral qualities which are gained by introspection, confrontation with one’s weaknesses, and finally development of character and virtue. According to the author the latter virtues are not as well represented in society and he decided to try to understand how a diverse group of men and women, through the ages and in vastly different times and circumstances, overcame their own foibles, sins, and moral weaknesses to develop strong characters. Francis Perkins, Dwight Eisenhower, Dorothy Day, George Marshall, A. Philip Randolph, Bayard Rustin, George Eliot, Augustine, Samuel Johnson and Michel de Montaigne serve the author well in illustrating their inner and outer flaws. Brooks shows how the “character” of these diverse individuals enabled them to become significant leaders in their communities during many of the major periods of human history. The author concludes by presenting a “Humility Code”, a series of propositions to allow the reader to explore their own life and how they have developed their personal character. (Ned Lyke)

The Girls of Atomic City by Denise Kiernan (2013 non-fiction): In 1942, the U.S. Government began hiring workers and constructing an industrial town that for the next several years would remain a huge secret. Oak Ridge, Tennessee, also known as “Site X” occupied up to 60,000 acres and employed 75,000 people. Its sole purpose was the manufacture of a weapon to end World War II. Most of the workers were women. Using facts gained through interviews, records, and family memorabilia, Kiernan chronicles the specific histories of some of these women and the general history of Site X and the development of the atomic bomb. No matter how you feel about the ultimate use of their work, the story of these women and of Site X and its tough living and working conditions makes interesting reading. Kiernan is additionally able to describe the story of the discovery of nuclear fission and processing of uranium (called “Tubealloy” for the course of the Manhattan Project) in terms that most laymen can understand. Recommended. (Ginger Russell)

Death in Holy Orders by P.D. James (2001 fiction): This is an Adam Dalgliesh mystery. I was immediately envisioning TV’s policemen, authentic monastic scenery. P.D. James makes any such envisioning effort unnecessary. In the tightly controlled environment of an East Anglian country abbey, she conjures up a varied cast of lay and clerical characters. She slowly unravels a fiendishly complicated plot. She invigorates the jerky forward piece with extraordinarily detailed descriptions: works of art, meals, revealing conversations, copulation.

Art: VanDerWeyden’s Doom—the tenebrious, indecipherable scene; a vivid depiction of the Last Judgment; Christ in glory; the Devil, with scaly tail and grinning lascivious jaws, the personification of horror, prepared to claim his prize; the damned were a squirming mass of black, pot-bellied, open mouthed hermaphrodites. Beside them a group of lesser devils with pitchforks and chains were busily shoving their victims into the jaws of an immense fish with teeth like a row of swords.

A James meal: The first course, baked aubergines and peppers in olive oil; the main course, cassoulet with boiled potatoes, carrots, and beans, followed by fruit and cheese and biscuits.

The weather: A morning of penetrating chill. The first light had spread itself, pink as diluted blood, over the grey waste of sea (p. 303). Again: A perfect day in mid-April in which sky, sea, and the quickening earth conspired in a soft compliance of settled beauty (p. 405). This is a book to be savored. Parts, chapters, and situations stand alone and yet coalesce in satisfying whole. (Martin Waldron)

FINANCIAL REPORT

By Barbara Kissling, Co-Treasurer

June 21 marked our second Multi-Media Pop-Up Sale. This was a great success; the $522 in proceeds will be used to fund library programs and amenities as do the proceeds from all our sales. We look forward to the August book sale and our upcoming special Sci-Fi and Fantasy sale in October, and to preparing our budget and reports for the annual meeting in November.

THANK YOU CORNER

By Jane Kraut, President

Sue Choquette is a volunteer extraordinaire; she wears so many hats for the Friends I am sure I will miss some but here goes:

- Graphic designer for all of our signs (advertising flyers, book store labels, notices of all types)
- Computer vigilance – keeps track of updates, security software, and backup information.
- Works a regular shift
- The PIC (PICS) for the Western section
- Attends board meetings
- Attends county-wide Friends meetings (the Friendlies)
- Seems to know everyone and cares about each of us
- Proofreads just about everything – she recently caught an error in the new books marks
- Works full time at all the book sales

Thank you, Sue, for all your hard work on behalf of the Friends.

I would also like to thank Mikel Estrin for all his hard work in our recent pop-up media sale. It was a great success, even though it was on a day when many people had other plans – Father's Day. Mikel, along with Carl Stanley, worked hard to organize the large number of CDs, DVDs and tapes that were available to the public for this special sale. If you missed it, don't worry. There will still be a large selection at the August sale.

ATTENTION SCI-FI FANS!

On Sunday, October 18th, we will be holding a special Sci-Fi and Fantasy book sale from 1:30 to 4:00 p.m. at the Library. A very generous donation from a collector allows us to offer these items.

This will be a golden opportunity for you to acquire all types of science fiction and fantasy books, including some rare, out of print, and/or special edition volumes. While some of the super-special books may have special (but reasonable!) prices, most will be priced at our usual bargain rates or better. So whether you're a fan of the genre or shopping for an early holiday gift, don't miss this!!

Life resembles a novel more often than novels resemble life. - George Sand

MEET YOUR FRIENDS Maxine (Max) Willett

This issue we are spotlighting a member with a very special responsibility! Max Willett manages our membership database, which can be a daunting task, including adding new members, processing all of your renewals, creating labels for newsletters that are snail-mailed, and sending out the issues that are emailed. In addition, Max periodically sends out emails regarding special events and information.

But wait, there's more! Max also works in the BookStore on Sundays, managing the Crafts and Hobbies and the Paranormal Romance sections.

Max became a member of the Friends in 2008, and began volunteering in the BookStore and with the setup of the database, in 2009.

She has lived in Castro Valley for nearly 35 years, relocating here from Long Island, NY. After working as a Licensed Practical Nurse, she obtained a degree in Data Processing with the idea of doing medical programming. That field was not quite ready for her, so she went into business programming instead. She has worked in Information Technology for over 32 years, as a programmer and in Project Management. She retired in 2000.

Max has always been "into" crafts, starting with crocheting and knitting, and she also does both watercolor and acrylic painting, creates greeting cards, and makes pottery and jewelry. She is currently learning to play the piano. Her main pastime is reading, however, and she has purchased (and re-donated) many books from our BookStore. As with many of us, she has a big backlog of books waiting to be read.

Drop by the BookStore on Sundays and say hello to Max!
